1. Introduction

Our PSHE (including RSE) programme promotes the spiritual, moral, cultural, mental and physical development of pupils at Beeston Hall, preparing them for the opportunities, responsibilities and experiences of later life. We follow a programme of study developed from the PSHE Association's Primary and Secondary Schemes of Work Planning Toolkits, which are recommended by the Department for Education. Our programme of study not only reflects the specific needs of our pupils but also the universal needs shared by all pupils in preparing for their future.

From the Summer Term 2021, it is a legal requirement to provide relationship and health education (RSHE) to all pupils as per section 34 of the Children and Social work act 2017. As we already deliver a comprehensive PSHE (including RSE) programme, we have reviewed and adjusted it to meet the Department for Education (DfE) expectations and are due to deliver it from September 2021.

Relationship and health education will be taught as part of our PSHE (including RSE) curriculum.

Up until Year 6, we are not required to provide sex education apart from the elements included in the primary science curriculum. As part of their PSHE (including RSE) education, pupils in Years 5 and 6 will receive age-appropriate sex and relationship education lessons.

2. Right to withdraw

Parents do not have the right to withdraw their child from relationship education; however, they do have the right to withdraw their children from the non-statutory /non-science components of sex education within PSHE (including RSE) up until three terms before the child's 16th birthday. To understand what the pupils will be taught, parents are encouraged to look at the RSE elements of the curriculum. Parents should contact the Head of PSHE or Deputy Head, Pastoral to discuss further and make a decision in the best interests of the child.

3. Intent

Our school's overarching intent for our pupils is to provide a personal, social, health and economic, relationships and sex education programme of study which ensures all pupils are provided with:

- accurate, balanced and relevant knowledge;
- opportunities to turn that knowledge into personal understanding;
- opportunities to explore, clarify and, if necessary, challenge, their own and others' values, attitudes, beliefs, rights and responsibilities;
- the skills, language and strategies they need in order to live healthy, safe, fulfilling responsible and balanced lives;
- opportunities to develop positive personal attributes such as resilience, self-confidence, self-esteem and empathy;
- accurate, balanced and relevant knowledge to enable them to appreciate what it means to be a positive, tolerant member of a diverse multicultural society.

Our pupils will be taught in a safe and supportive learning environment. We will ensure that where a pupil indicates that they may be vulnerable and at risk, they will get appropriate support by staff members following the schools safeguarding/child protection policies.

We work by these ground rules in PSHE (including RSE) lessons:

Openness

We will be open and honest, but not discuss directly our own or others' personal lives. Keep the conversation in the room. We feel safe discussing general issues relating to mental health in our lesson and we know our teacher will not repeat what is said unless they are concerned, we are at risk.

Non-judgemental approach

It is okay for us to disagree with another person's point of view, but we will not judge, make fun of, or put anybody down. We will 'challenge the opinion and not the person'.

Right to pass

Taking part is important. However, we have the right to pass on answering a question or participating in an activity (politely!)

Make no assumptions

We will not make assumptions about people's values, attitudes, behaviours, life experiences or feelings.

Listen to others

We will listen to the other person's point of view and expect to be listened to.

Using language

We will use the correct terms for the things we will be discussing rather than the slang terms, as they can be offensive. If we are not sure what the correct term is, we will ask our teacher.

We know that there are no stupid questions.

We do not ask questions to deliberately try to embarrass anyone else. Asking questions Seeking help and advice If we need further help or advice, we know how and where to seek it confidentially, both in school and in the community. We will encourage friends to seek help if we think they need it.

I understand the above ground rules and will try my best to stick to them.

4. Implementation

The scheme of work has three core themes, the same for each key stage. Each core theme is divided up into three topic areas:

Core Theme 1: Health and Wellbeing

Topic areas:

- Healthy lifestyles
- Keeping safe
- Growing and changing

Core Theme 2: Relationships

Topic areas:

- Healthy Relationships
- Feelings and emotions
- Valuing difference

Core Theme 3: Living in the Wider World

Topic areas:

- Rights and responsibilities
- Taking care of the environment
- Money matters

Whilst PSHE (including RSE) is split into three separate core themes, in reality there will always be extensive overlap. PSHE (including RSE) education addresses both pupils' direct experience and preparation for their future. Therefore, we feel it is important to provide a spiral programme of knowledge, skills and attribute development, where prior learning is revisited, reinforced and extended in age and key stage appropriate contexts. We feel that PSHE (including RSE) education should reflect the universal needs shared by all pupils as well as the specific needs of the pupils at our school.

5. Organisation/provision

We teach PSHE (including RSE) in a variety of ways. We have dedicated curriculum time/lessons, where the lessons are delivered by members of the school's pastoral team or those with PSHE teaching experience and expertise, using the scheme of work developed from the PSHE Association's Toolkits.

Elements of PSHE (including RSE) are also covered through other areas of the school's curriculum; e.g. Religious Education, Science and English.

In addition, PSHE (including RSE) is developed through whole-school activities and events:

- Through PSHE themed Assemblies.
- Through the relationships developed in Tutor and Mentor time.
- Our school council; the representatives from each class meet regularly to discuss school matters.
- Residential visits where there is a particular focus on developing pupils' self-esteem and independence, giving them opportunities to develop leadership skills and positive group work.
- Themed days and weeks with particular focus on values such as kindness and online safety for example
- Visiting speakers and workshops.
- A variety of clubs and activities.

We also ensure that we incorporate and respect all social, moral, spiritual and cultural issues while encouraging our children to think about their place within Britain as citizens. We include the five British Values (democracy, rule of law, individual liberty, mutual respect and tolerance of different faiths/beliefs) within our teaching to establish an effective and safe school environment.

6. Early Years Foundation Stage

In the Early Years Foundation Stage, PSHE (including RSE) is taught as an integral part of the topic work covered during the year. We relate the PSHE (including RSE) aspects of the children's work to the areas of learning set out in the Foundation Stage guidance to develop a child's personal, emotional and social development. This is also supported through other areas of learning such as Knowledge and Understanding and Communication, Language and Literacy. Children in the Foundation Stage are placed in pastoral groups and attached to a key adult, daily pastoral group activities always have many PSHE (including RSE) elements incorporated into them. (For EYFS Ages and Stages see Appendix 1)

7. Teaching PSHE (including RSE) to children with special needs

All pupils, regardless of their needs must be part of the PSHE (including RSE) programme as it is an important part of developing healthy relationships with their peers. We will respect pupils' unique starting points by providing learning opportunities that are matched to the individual needs of all children, including those who are gifted and talented or have learning difficulties. When teaching PSHE (including RSE) we consider the targets set for the children in their Education Health and Care Plan (EHCP) or Learning Support individualised plans, some of which may be directly related to PSHE (including RSE) targets.

For gifted and talented pupils, we will provide additional opportunities to take responsibility, develop leadership skills, think creatively and use their talents for the good of the class or the wider community.

8. Equality and Diversity

At Beeston Hall, PSHE (including RSE) education is accessible to every pupil. Teaching will take into account the ability, age, readiness, religious and cultural backgrounds of our children and those with English as a second language to ensure that all can fully access our PSHE (including RSE) education provision, in accordance with the Equality Act 2010.

9. PSHE (including RSE) and ICT

Learning in PSHE (including RSE) will compliment learning in Computing, where the children will develop a sense of global citizenship by the safe use of the internet. There is an online safety policy for all pupils, which aims to develop a set of safe and discriminating behaviours for pupils to adopt when using the internet and other technologies. We also teach digital literacy as part of our curriculum and in stand-alone computing lessons. Through discussion of safety and other issues related to electronic communication, the children develop their own view about the use and misuse of ICT, and they also gain an insight into the interdependence of ICT users around the world.

10. Assessment and Recording

An important part of PSHE (including RSE) teaching is that we learn where the pupils' starting points are and build from there. Continual assessment through discussion and other forms of work enables to the teacher to develop the most appropriate learning opportunities to suit the pupils.

In PSHE (including RSE) there are two broad areas for assessment:

- Children's knowledge and understanding; for example, information on health, understanding of rules, understanding of health and safety procedures, and the meaning of ideas including democracy.
- How well children can use their knowledge and understanding in developing skills and attitudes; for example, through participating in discussions, group tasks and activities, managing conflict, making decisions and promoting positive relationships.

Pupils have a specific PSHE (including RSE) folder, where they collate their work throughout and they can evidence their learning and personal development.

11. Resources

Resources for PSHE (including RSE) are generally saved in staff shared under PSHE. Physical resources are kept with the Head of PSHE or relevant members of the department. The school is a member of the PSHE Association, an excellent source of information and support which is endorsed by the Department for Education and includes curriculum guidance, lesson plans, resources and continuing professional development (CPD) training.

Resources for staff CPD include:

It is the department's view that keeping the resources up-to-date and relevant is important in delivering a successful PSHE (including RSE) programme and these are reviewed and updated regularly by different members of the PSHE (including RSE) department.

12. Monitoring and Review

The Head of PSHE (including RSE), Deputy Heads and Senior Leadership Team are responsible for monitoring the standards of children's work and the quality of teaching. They support colleagues in the teaching of PSHE (including RSE), by giving them information about current developments in the subject, providing appropriate funding and time for continuing professional development and reviewing practice.

The policy was written in September 2021 by the Head of PSHE.

It is up to date with current guidance from the Government and Department for Education. The policy will be reviewed on an annual basis.
